Why It's Time to Evaluate Your Time & Labor System

It's simple, really. Your outdated time and labor system is hurting your organization. Trying to manage today's rapidly evolving workforce with outdated tools drags down productivity, raises costs, and increases your risk of noncompliance. And frankly — it's making your job harder.

It is critical to stay on top of new demographic, technological, economic, and regulatory shifts to help sustain and grow your organization. And you can't do any of those things successfully with technology that was cutting-edge years ago.

Our human capital management (HCM) platform is the solution. It's a modern, cloud-based HCM solution for organizations like yours to manage all aspects of the employee lifecycle. Our time and labor module is the time and attendance component of our solution, and it can help you gain the visibility, insights, and management capabilities you need to build business success.

Migrating to our HCM solution is affordable and easy, and you can be up and running quickly.

Why so many of our customers have made the move to our HCM solution

- Upgrade outdated, clunky systems
- Integrate to streamline processes and workflow
- Improve functionality and ease of use
- Gain robust reporting
- Enable customization for unique requirements

Bring Your Time and Labor Up to Date

Outdated time and labor systems are painful for managers, employees, and the organization. Errors increase costs and compliance risks. And because outdated systems fail to leverage new technologies, they are difficult to navigate, leading to low user adoption rates.

5 REASONS you should upgrade to our HCM solution

1. Lower your IT costs

With our HCM solution you can save on expenditures, software maintenance, and the maintenance of application servers, plus reduce the number of IT resources who manage them. The results: IT productivity goes up and you can free your IT staff to focus on business growth, instead of everyday IT administration.

2. Minimize regulatory compliance risk

Consistent compliance with labor-related regulatory policies is crucial, and out-of-date software can have a seriously detrimental impact on achieving it. If you're using outdated systems, you should be concerned about relying on them to reliably and correctly provide patches, service packs, and security updates in a timely fashion, without disrupting corporate payroll operations.

3. Benefit from software upgrade cost savings

When you move to the cloud, all system management, upgrades, and support are done automatically — which means you will always be on the most recent version of the software.

4. Increase functionality, improve productivity, and streamline process

Our HCM solution boasts a feature set with impressive workflow and reporting capabilities. New features and functionality are added on a continuous basis, so you'll always have the latest and greatest.

5. Take advantage of the cloud

You'll automatically receive all future product updates and technical support through a low monthly subscription. And you'll get all the benefits that a completely web-based, cloud-hosted, and cloud-managed cloud managed HCM solution management solution delivers.
